Summary of the Trust

“The Ameshwarnath Sewa Sangh Trust” is a social , cultural institute and trust. The Ameshwarnath Sewa Sangh is named after Ameshwarnath Mahadev, (a self-manifested Shiva Linga or Svayambhu). The primary objective of this trust is to renovate the ancient Ameshwarnath Mahadev Temple and to build new temples for the restoration and preservation of other old temples.

If you'd like it to sound more formal or more simple, I can adjust it. The trust was established in a rural area affected by poverty, where there is neither political support nor assistance from any other trust or NGO formed in 2013, the trust members have been visiting villages to collect small donations of ₹2, ₹5, and ₹10 to organize Mahashivratri and Chhath Puja in a systematic and cultural manner. Gradually, the trust began to grow stronger.

The registration process started in 2019, and by 2025, all registrations will be completed.

The trust observed that in this rural region, due to financial constraints, parents enroll their children in government schools, but the children hardly attend. To address this issue, the Ameshwarnath Sewa Sangh Trust began organizing general knowledge competitions to encourage education.

In addition, the nearest health centers are located 5–10 kilometers away, due to which people are often unable to access proper healthcare. The trust also works to promote traditional Hindu marriage practices and supports poor families whose relatives do not come forward to assist them.

Currently, the main objectives of the trust are:

- * Education
- * Sports
- * Health
- * Environmental Protection
- * Hindu Marriage Support

Furthermore, the “Clean Ganga Mission” will be launched in March 2026, as the members of the trust have been contributing selflessly for the past 12 years and working in a legal and documented manner for the last 5 years.

The trust firmly stands against corruption. Therefore, this organization will neither support corruption nor accept assistance gained through corrupt means.

The primary objective of our organization is service, and true service requires dedicated and selfless members—not black money. Hence, anyone who supports this organization or trust must do so with honesty, selflessness, and without corruption.
